Experience Tufts
Welcome to the Hill

In the 1840s, the Universalist Church wanted to open a college in New England. Boston businessman Charles Tufts gave the church a gift of 20 acres of land on the condition it be used for establishing a college. With that, the location was decided. Tufts’ land was located on one of the highest hills in the Boston area, Walnut Hill, straddling Medford and Somerville.

As local lore has it, when a relative asked Charles Tufts what he would do with his land, and more specifically with “that bleak hill over in Medford,” Tufts replied, “I will put a light on it.” In 1855, a toast to the new Tufts College was offered in Faneuil Hall. Hosea Ballou II, the college’s first president, remarked, “For if Tufts College is to be a source of illumination, as a beacon standing on a hill, where its light cannot be hidden, its influence will naturally work like all light; it will be diffusive.”

In a physical representation of Charles Tufts and Hosea Ballou II’s hopes for the college, all incoming students participate in a candlelighting ceremony on the President’s lawn. This ceremony takes place twice during their time at Tufts—during Orientation and before graduation. The experience symbolizes the sharing of knowledge that each student will take part in during their time at Tufts University and within their own communities.
WELCOME CLASS OF 2021 AND TRANSFER STUDENTS!

Tufts Undergraduate Orientation is a week designed to show you the Tufts Experience. This week marks the beginning of an important journey you will never forget. On this hill, you will find professors who will inspire you, build friendships that will stay with you forever, and create memories to treasure for life. The Tufts experience is about growing as an individual and as a member of the larger campus community. During Orientation, you will learn about some of the University’s most important lessons and traditions. This week is also about making connections. Take the time to connect with your peers, your advisors, and your University. Some of the bonds that begin here are sure to last throughout your time at Tufts and even long after. Welcome to the Hill!

During Orientation, you will . . .

- learn about what Tufts University offers;
- meet with First-Year Assistants and other student leaders who will introduce you to university resources and answer your questions;
- form friendships with your peers and learn more about yourself in the process;
- collaborate with your academic advisor to assess your academic skills and prepare for the responsibility of making choices about your education;
- meet with faculty and staff members and explore the breadth of your educational opportunities;
- learn about the many co-curricular activities offered by Tufts’ student organizations and athletics programs.

This calendar lists all events and activities happening during Orientation week. Please take some time to review the calendar and make note of the events you will be attending. While all programs are important, many of the programs are mandatory. All mandatory programs are highlighted with a SHADOW BOX. Some programs are specific to certain groups and will be marked with the respective icons, Engineering (ENGN), Arts & Sciences (A&S), Transfer (TRSF), SMFA (SMFA), SMFA Combined Degree (CMRD), and Open to All Students (ALL). Many programs are designated by your Residence Hall, please review calendar carefully. Please bring your Tufts ID to all mandatory events. Descriptions of all programs are listed in the glossary at the end. For the most up-to-date information and schedule, please download the app, Tufts Mobile.

Orientation reflects what your life at Tufts will be: Intellectually stimulating and rich in experience.

CLASSES BEGIN TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 5.

HAVE A GREAT SEMESTER!
A Cappella Orientation Concert
Songs for every taste, combining the traditional and contemporary, presented by Tufts’ many a cappella groups: the Amalgamates, Beelzebubs, Enchanted, Essence, Jackson Jills, S-Factor, Shir Appeal, and sQ!

Academic Essentials
Meet your Academic Deans and Student Success Advisors (SSAs), who will discuss ideas to keep in mind as you plan your first semester program, including graduation requirements. You will hear about how to explore your options without closing doors on potential majors and how to utilize the Academic Resource Center and view a walk-through of the online registration process.

Academic Fair
Faculty and staff representatives will share information and answer questions about courses, majors and programs. You will rotate between disciplines collecting signatures and will submit your completed autograph book into a raffle for $250 in Jumbo Cash. This fair is an opportunity to explore different academic areas of interest.

Academic Integrity Workshop
All entering students must attend one of the workshops offered. As college students, you are entering an intellectual community with high expectations about your abilities to synthesize, summarize, and cite research in your writing. Join in a lively, interactive discussion with Tufts Writing Fellows about how to use sources wisely and avoid dangerous pitfalls. If your appointment with your advisor is at the time your group is assigned to attend, meet with your advisor and attend a different session.

Art Gallery Open House
Welcome Jumbos! Preview the Fall 2017 exhibition Yuan Yunsheng: Chinese Myth, Folklore & History, tour the Directed Looking Gallery, and enjoy some popcorn and snacks while discovering all of the activities the Tufts University Art Gallery has to offer this semester.

Blue and Brown Pass Down: Back to School Sale 2017
Whatever you’re hoping to find for your residence hall room next year—from mini-fridges to mirrors, plastic storage containers to printers—we’ve got it! This massive back-to-school sale will feature all the treasures donated at last year’s move-out. For unparalleled low prices, you will find everything you need to make Tufts home, while doing your part to reduce waste and support campus sustainability. See you there!

Be the Change!

“Beer Goggles” to Blackouts, “the Munchies” to Memory Problems: The Science of Alcohol and Marijuana, with Dr. Jason Kilmer

People say they feel more social, more outgoing, and more confident when they drink alcohol, but does alcohol really do those things? With so much being debated about what marijuana does or doesn’t do, what does the research actually say? How come the ability to “hold your liquor” could disappear if someone drinks in an unfamiliar setting or consumes unfamiliar drinks? Learn about the answers to these questions and more as we discuss what the science says about these issues. We will also talk about ways to reduce the risks associated with substance use (when applicable), and ways to look out for a classmate or friend. Dr. Jason Kilmer currently works at the University of Washington in both a student affairs and as an Associate Professor in Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences, and serves as an investigator on several studies evaluating prevention and intervention efforts for alcohol, marijuana, and other drug use by college students. Jason has presented at Tufts over the past year to hundreds of student leaders. The programs were a unanimous success and ended with a standing ovation every time. Here is what some of our current student leaders have said about Jason.

“This was probably the best of this sort of talk I have heard in my entire education career. He is engaging, interesting and presented scientific and empirical information in a digestible way. This talk prompted discussion between myself and other staff members on our own personal drinking habits.”

Building an Inclusive Tufts Community, with Dr. Becky Martinez

Everyone deserves a supportive community to thrive in while at college. To do so, it is critical to recognize our vast diversity and understand our responsibility to actively create an inclusive community as we learn about each other. As Tufts values the principles of diversity, inclusion and pluralism, we will explore social group identities that make up our community and discuss ways to make college a great experience for everyone. Dr. Becky Martinez is a consultant and trainer with a focus on social justice, leadership and organizational change. Her work focuses on dismantling systems of oppression through critical dialogue and reflection intertwined with theoretical foundations. She believes that while organizations may have a depth of diversity, there is a great deal of work to do to create an inclusive environment, and it is our responsibility as community members to create such space. Tufts University welcomes Dr. Becky Martinez.

Thinking of Majoring in IR
The International Relations Program at Tufts University offers a course of study for undergraduate students with a primary interest in international and regional studies. The field of international relations includes the study of: the history, politics, economics, and cultures of regional systems around the world; international economics; global health, nutrition, and the environment as they relate to international relations; the causes and consequences of war and the conditions for peace; the spread of ideas through global practices and behaviors such as human rights, migration, urbanization, media, technology, empires and colonialism, and the study of culture; and how individuals perceive themselves in their relationships to the world through prisms such as gender, class, religion, race, nationality, and ethnicity. A major in international relations is interdisciplinary and both faculty and students in international relations strive to compare and integrate the methodologies and evidence they acquire in different disciplinary settings as they seek answers to similar questions.

Welcome to the Hill

In the 1840s, the Universalist Church wanted to open a college in New England. Boston businessman Charles Tufts gave the church a gift of 20 acres of land on the condition it be used for establishing a college. With that, the location was decided. Tufts’ land was located on one of the highest hills in the Boston area, Walnut Hill, straddling Medford and Somerville.

As local lore has it, when a relative asked Charles Tufts what he would do with his land, and more specifically with “that bleak hill over in Medford,” Tufts replied, “I will put a light on it.” In 1855, a toast to the new Tufts College was offered in Faneuil Hall. Hosea Ballou II, the college’s first president, remarked, “For if Tufts College is to be a source of illumination, as a beacon standing on a hill, where its light cannot be hidden, its influence will naturally work like all light; it will be diffusive.”

In a physical representation of Charles Tufts and Hosea Ballou II’s hopes for the college, all incoming students participate in a candlelighting ceremony on the President’s lawn. This ceremony takes place twice during their time at Tufts—during Orientation and before graduation. The experience symbolizes the sharing of knowledge that each student will take part in during their time at Tufts University and within their own communities.
