

Undergraduate Summer Study Elsewhere Federal Financial Aid Application

Enrollment Elsewhere

A student who receives a federal Pell Grant or Federal Direct student loan during the academic year may be able to receive a Pell Grant and/or federal student loan to help cover the cost of summer courses taken elsewhere. To receive a summer Pell grant or student loan for study elsewhere the following criteria must be met:

1. You must be enrolled at least half-time, as measured by your study elsewhere program and equal to the equivalent of 6 Tufts semester hours (SHUs).
2. The school/program must be eligible for federal Title IV financial aid. In most cases this eliminates the possibility of direct-enrollment with a foreign school.
3. You must complete a Consortium agreement, available at <http://go.tufts.edu/finaidforms> and forward it to your summer program to complete and send back to Tufts.
4. You must submit your summer course enrollment through the transfer of credit process in SIS, and provide the Financial Aid Office with documentation showing your summer courses will be accepted for degree credit at Tufts.
5. You must ensure that your credits successfully transfer to Tufts.

Federal Aid Eligibility

Federal Direct Loan

This loan is available if you have not borrowed your annual loan limit during the fall and spring semesters. You may view your financial aid on SIS to see if you have reached your maximum grade level Direct Loan borrowing ($5500 for first-years, $6500 for sophomores and $7500 for juniors & seniors). A student must be enrolled in and complete a minimum of 6 SHUs to receive Federal Direct Loan funds.

Federal Pell Grant

This grant may be available if you received a Pell grant during the academic year and are enrolled in and complete a minimum of 6 SHUs over the summer. The amount of the summer Pell Grant is based upon the amount you received during the fall/spring semester. If enrolled in 6 SHUs, the Pell grant award could range from $0 to approximately $1,600. You must be making satisfactory academic progress to receive these funds.
